

Susan (Susanna) WATKINS & Descendants

First Generation

1. Susan (Susanna) WATKINS was born about 1744 in Henrico County, VA. She died about 1814 in Charlotte County, Virginia.

"A CATALOGUE of the Descendants of THOMAS WATKINS of Chickahominy, VA. Who was the Common Ancestor of Many of the Families of the Name in Prince Edward, Charlotte, and Chesterfield Counties, VA.", by Francis N. Watkins, (Written 1852) Prince Edward County, VA." 1899 Atlas Printing Company, Henderson, SC.

"VI. SUSANNA WATKINS was the name of another daughter. She married Col. Wm. MORTON, of Staunton River, Charlotte, on the 29th October 1764. This excellent woman is still remembered with great veneration and affection by the old people of the country, and was beloved for her devoted piety, uniformly exhibited during a long and consistent life. Distinguished for the "meek and quiet spring," which so beautifully adorned her life, her virtues shone most conspicuously at home, and to her husband and children she was of priceless value. But if Mrs. MORTON had been a woman of no marked and distinctive character, the alliance with Col. Morton brought much honor to her name. He must have been an extraordinary man. He seems to have held some office, while a young man, which called him occasionally to Williamsburg, the then seat of government of Virginia. On one of these journeys, he called at the residence of Thomas Watkins of Chickahominy, and the acquaintance with his daughters resulted in their marriage. He settled on the Staunton River, at the plantation now (in 1852) occupied by his grandson. He enlisted in the patriotic service of his country, and exhibited much gallantry at the battle of Guilford C(ourt) H(ouse). He was afterwards a faithful and useful Justice of the Peace in Charlotte County; and on one occasion refused to vote for the nomination to the Executive of Virginia, for a militia officer to be commissioned as a major. The officer demanded his reason; Col. M. told him "that when he ran at Guilford from the enemy's fire, he (Col. M.) thrashed him back into the lines." A personal difficulty was apprehended by the friends; and when someone asked the Colonel if he did not feel some apprehensions for his safety, in making so grave a charge, he promptly replied, "No, I thrashed him once, and can do it again if necessary." The charge caused a lawsuit; the Colonel had some difficulty in obtaining the proof of the alleged slander, but when he was fully sustained by an old soldier who witnessed the scene, the prosecution of the suit was abandoned. Few men were held in higher veneration and regard, by all, young and old, than Col. Morton; and mainly for his piety and benevolence, and for all these high and ennobling virtues which make up and complete the character of the "good citizens." As an evidence of his exceeding kindness of heart, no love of profits could induce him to sell corn to the poor beyond the lowest market price, during a season when, from great scarcity in the country, corn was commanding a very high price. And at such times he liberally supplied the wants of the extremely poor, without price. In the development of wonderful sagacity of mind, Col. M. exceeded any man of whom I have ever heard; and especially in ferreting out crime. He was emphatically a "terror to evil doers." The various and authentic anecdotes of his skill, at tracing others by 'tracking' them, are most wonderful. Among the many facts which are told of him in this particular, I mention one. A riding horse was stolen, while the congregation was engaged in public worship, on some occasion at Briery Church. Col. Morton followed the track of the horse into North Carolina; the thief evidently designed to prevent pursuit, if practicable, by often leaving the direct road; but he could not evade the Colonel. He pursued him, by following the horse's track, and without aid, he apprehended him. The thief was brought back to Virginia, and convicted and punished.

The Presbyterian church had few more useful, consistent, and zealous, and wise members than Col. Morton; he was, for a long period, a Ruling Elder of the denomination.

Mrs. Morton died some years before her husband. Very numerous descendants survived them; their children and grandchildren are among the most honorable and respected in the commonwealth, whose useful lives illustrated the benefits of the examples and counsels of their excellent ancestors."

I heard from a lovely descendant of William Morton Hannah. I hesitate to include all of the wonderful information she shared, not wanting personal information on living individuals included in this format. But I want to thank **Nancy Hannah Forsyth** for contacting me and telling me more about her family! I'm sure she wouldn't object if others knew more, but please contact me privately for further information.

My Dad was born in Norfolk, VA in 1887. His mother died when he was 11 years old and he grew up in the old Richardson-Hannah homeplace in Appomattox Co., VA where his uncle lived. He graduated from VPI, now called Virginia Tech, and went to work for the General Electric Co. who sent him to Louisville, KY. He began attending the Second Presbyterian Church and met my mother, Elizabeth Stites, there. My mother's family had come to KY from VA in the 1700s. In doing genealogy, I found that my parents were one half 7th cousins through the Cocke family. Dad was a member of the Rotary Club and an elder in the Presbyterian Church.

Col. Joseph Morton married twice. 1. Miss Goode and 2. Agnes Woodson. I haven't been able to find the parents of Miss Goode. She evidently died in child birth and had a daughter Mary. I am descended from both wives. From your Goode genealogy, do you know anything about a Miss Goode, possibly Mary?
